

Chirag Rajani

About me

Motivated and dedicated, I am an aspiring front-end developer with a background in the hospitality industry. I bring exceptional interpersonal skills and a passion for continuous growth in coding. Transitioning into web development, I discovered a genuine love for building from scratch and finding bugs. I am committed to improving my coding skills and staying updated with the latest industry trends. With a strong foundation in soft skills and a drive for continuous improvement, I am eager to contribute to the development of innovative web applications. I thrive in collaborative environments and look forward to joining a dynamic team.
